

RESOURCE SERVICES

Spectra Resource Services provides clients with access to the widest range of qualified IT and telecommunications engineers, both ex-military and civilian. They have an awareness of hostile environments and the ability and training to deploy anywhere in the world at a moment's notice.

Spectra Resource Services is a division of Spectra Group (UK) Limited, a leading UK-based telecommunication service provider to governmental, military and security organisations. It gives governmental, military and security organisations a cost effective solution to resourcing ex-military and civilian IT and telecommunications engineers.

Resource Database

Spectra Resource Services maintains a unique resource database of highly skilled personnel with extensive, practical experience of working unsupervised in hazardous and remote areas for prolonged periods.

This database features candidates with at least five years experience and proven track records that demonstrate the highest levels of key skills, flexibility, reliability, professionalism and attitude. These candidates are ideally suited for a wide range of assignments from Watchkeepers through to telecommunications and IT engineers. Many also have security clearances at various levels allowing access to highly classified Defence documentation as well as being Hostile Environments Awareness Trained.

Through Spectra Telecom Training, another division of the company, we ensure that candidates are equipped with the skill sets and knowledge to maintain the highest level of skill sets and knowledge of the communications equipment and the skills required to manage communications strategies deployed by security, governmental and aid organisations around the world.

Specialist Support

Spectra Resource Services is managed and staffed by specialists with extensive experience in the sectors we serve. We are confident that no other company can match our understanding of your requirements or deliver the efficiency and performance that our clients value so highly.
